5 Comments

When visitors leave comments on the site, we collect the data shown in the comments form, and also the visitor's IP address and browser user agent string to help spam detection.

Any anonymised string created from your email address (also called a hash) may be provided to the Gravatar service to see if you are using it. The Gravatar Service Privacy Policy is available here. After approval of your comment, your profile picture is visible to the public in the context of your comment.

6 Types Of Information We May Collect From You

We may collect, store and use the following kinds of personal information about individuals who visit and use our website:

6.1 Information you supply to us

You may provide personal information by completing forms on our website, such as submitting an enquiry or requesting information. The information you give us may include:

- Name
- Postal Address
- E-mail address
- Phone number
- Any other information you choose to provide

We may use this information to respond to your enquiry about the services or information you require from us.

6.2 Information our website automatically collects from you

With regard to each of your visits to our website, we may automatically collect information including the following:

- Technical information, including a truncated and anonymised version of your Internet protocol (IP) address, browser type and version, operating system and platform;
- Information about your visit, including what pages you visit, how long you are on the site, how you got to the site (including date and time); page response times, length of visit, what you click on, documents downloaded and download errors.

6.3 How is this used?

- To administer our site including troubleshooting and statistical purposes;
- To improve our site to ensure that content is presented in the most effective manner for you and your computer;
- Security and debugging as part of our efforts to keep our site safe and secure.

6.4 Cookies

If you leave a comment on our site, you may opt in to saving your name, email address and website in cookies. This is for your convenience so that you do not have to fill in your details again when you leave another comment. These cookies will last for one year.

You can control or disable cookies through your browser settings.

Our website uses cookies to distinguish you from other users and improve your browsing experience. They also allow us to improve our site.

6.5 Embedded content from other websites

Articles on this site may include embedded content (e.g. images, articles, etc.). Embedded content from other websites behaves in the exact same way as if the visitor has visited the other website.

These websites may collect data about you, use cookies, embed additional third-party tracking, and monitor your interaction with that embedded content, including tracking your interaction with the embedded content if you have an account and are logged in to that website.

7 How Long We Retain Your Data

If you leave a comment, the comment and its metadata are retained indefinitely. This is so we can recognise and approve any follow-up comments automatically instead of holding them in a moderation queue.

We retain personal data only for as long as necessary for the purposes for which it was collected, or as required by law.

8 What Rights You Have Over Your Data

Under UK GDPR and in accordance with ICO guidance, you have the right to:

- Access the personal data we hold about you
- Request correction of inaccurate personal data
- Request deletion of your personal data (where legally permissible)
- Object to or restrict processing in certain circumstances
- Request a copy of your personal data in a portable format

To exercise any of these rights, please contact: dpo@mrwis.com

9 Where We Send Your Data

To protect our website from spam and malicious activity, visitor submissions may be checked through automated security or spam-detection services.
